

Bay Aging wins national Health Quality Innovator of the Year award

Bay Aging, the nonprofit Area Agency on Aging that primarily serves residents of the Middle Peninsula and Northern Neck, has been selected as a 2021 Health Quality Innovator of the Year.

The Health Quality Innovator Awards is the annual awards program created by Health Quality Innovators that recognizes and celebrates organizations that are using successful, evidence-based approaches to quality improvement.

Bay Aging's person-centered Care Coordination program was named the winner of the Patient Engagement and Activation category, which recognizes organizations that have made the commitment to partner with patients, families, and caregivers to adopt effective patient engagement strategies to ensure care processes are patient-centered.

The program, which is accredited by the National Committee for Quality Assurance, helps people experiencing chronic illness or age-related challenges avoid nursing home placement and live at home for as long as possible.

"To support an individual's independence, we empower them so they can participate in daily decision-making and in directing their services," said Tiffany Robins, R.N.,

Bay Aging has been selected as a 2021 Health Quality Innovator of the Year. Some of those responsible for the accolade include, from left, Care Coordinator Austen Dozier; Tiffany Robins, R.N., Director of Care Coordination and Home and Community-Based Services, and Lauren Cobb, Assistant Director of Care Coordination.

Bay Aging Director of Care Coordination and Home and Community-Based Services. "Over the last 10 years, Bay Aging was inspired to develop a person-centered care coordination program that helps participants achieve an optimal level of health and well-being by providing a centralized point of contact to assist with navigation of resources and supports in a challenging and confusing healthcare delivery system." Established in 1978, Bay Aging provides comprehensive transportation, housing, community living and health services programs throughout the region. Daily Grind Coffee House to close in Mathews Feb. 4

BY SHERRY HAMILTON

The Daily Grind Coffee House in Mathews, a popular gathering place for local residents, will be closing on Feb. 4, and the building is under contract for sale.

Vonda Lennon, who owns the business along with her husband, Dr. Ben Lennon, said a closing date is scheduled in February.

Selling the business was "a very hard decision for us to make," said Lennon, adding, "The coffee shop is our heart." Various factors played into the decision to sell, she said, but ultimately "it was just time" for the family to part with the property.

The business opened in January 2019 as a place to bring the community together, said Lennon.

"We wanted it to be something good for the community," she said. "And we're so thankful for the community's support and loyalty over the past three years. It's been nothing but joy, and we're so grateful."

Lennon said one of the factors in accepting the offer that was made for the business was that the buyers expressed an interest in possibly continuing to operate a coffee shop. But even if that doesn't happen, she said she hopes the owners will be successful in whatever endeavor they may undertake.

"We wish them the best of luck," she said.

Lennon urged residents who have gift cards to redeem them before Feb. 4.

"And don't forget to love on our amazing staff," she said, "because we could not have done this without them."

The Daily Grind was initially the vision of Casey Shaw, an employee in Dr. Lennon's dental practice. Shaw oversaw the renovations and redecorating that turned the former gift shop into a family gathering place offering a variety of baked goods in addition to coffees and teas, and providing Wi-Fi and space for people to work or study or have small gatherings.

In a statement on Facebook, Lennon thanked Shaw and her family for "all of your hard work, above and beyond, from the beginning to the end of the Daily Grind journey."

Chesapeake reports $15M in 2021 earnings

Chesapeake Financial Shares Inc., parent company of both Chesapeake Bank and Chesapeake Wealth Management, reported record earnings for the 2021 calendar year of $15,009,514, a 27.7 percent increase over 2020 earnings, according to board chairman/CEO Jeffrey M. Szyperski.

The reported earnings per share were $3.105 fully diluted as compared to $2.395 in 2020. Chesapeake Financial Shares ended the year Dec. 31, 2021 with total assets of $1,385,816,175, a 15 percent increase over year-end 2020. Nonperforming assets were 0.490 percent as of Dec. 31, 2021 compared to 1.034 percent at Dec. 31, 2020 representing a 52.6 percent decrease.

"Fueling our record earnings year was a variety of sources, primarily Paycheck Protection Program fees, an incredibly strong mortgage market and solid balance sheet growth. In addition to our strong earnings, American Banker named us one of the 'Top 200 Community Banks' in the United States for the 14th consecutive year and one of the 'Best Banks to Work For' for the ninth consecutive year," said Szyperski. "We have been committed community partners through this pandemic and our communities have, in turn, supported us."

At the Jan. 21 Chesapeake Financial Shares Board of Directors meeting, the board declared a quarterly dividend of $0.14 per share effective March 1, 2022, payable on or before March 15, 2022. The company has increased its dividend for 29 consecutive years. The stock currently has a 1.9 percent dividend yield.

2021 proves to be a record-breaking year for Virginia's housing market

According to the December 2021 Homes Sales Report released by Virginia Realtors, the commonwealth's competitive housing market broke numerous records in 2021.

Last year, there were 154,340 home sales statewide, a surge of 10.2 percent over 2020. Nearly every local market across Virginia had more home sales in 2021 than the previous year.

Much of Virginia saw rapid price gains. The commonwealth's annual median sales price was $350,000, a $30,000 jump from 2020, which is a 9.4 percent increase. This is the largest annual price gain the state has had in years. This strong price growth was fueled by historically low mortgage interest rates, record sales activity, and the tight inventory of homes available.

The inventory shortage continues to be a major challenge in Virginia. There were just 13,469 active listings throughout the state at the end of December, a 24.2 percent drop from a year ago, which is nearly 4,300 fewer listings.

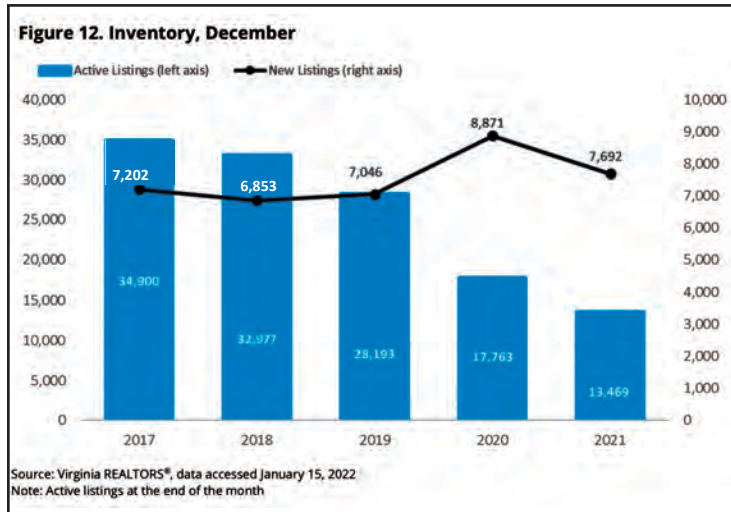

"Virginia's housing market is very strong. The biggest challenge in the market is a lack of inventory. Sales are slowing down a bit because buyers are having a hard time finding homes to consider," says Virginia Realtors' 2021 president Denise Ramey.

Driven by climbing prices and strong demand, Virginia's sold dollar volume also swelled to record levels in 2021. There was about $66.8 billion of total sold volume in 2021, more than a 22 percent increase from 2020—an increase of about $12.1 billion through the course of the entire year.

2021's strong demand for homes led to a major decrease in the number of days homes remained on the market. Statewide, the average days on market for 2021 was just 25 days, more than two weeks faster than 2020's average (41 days).

While these numbers are staggering, the majority of home sales activity took place early in the year. Starting in the fall, sales activity began to cool in many markets around Virginia. "At the end of 2021, home sales activity slowed compared to the very fast pace of last year at the same time. Nevertheless, demand remained very strong over the year," Virginia Realtors' Chief Economist Dr. Lisa Sturtevant said.
